Contact: Evette Reagan, M.A.

(714) 241-6214

The Intellectual Disabilities Program at Coastline College offers day and evening non-credit academic, vocational, enrichment and independent living skills courses. A wide variety of classes are available such as Beginning Reading, Applied Academics, Introduction to Computers, Desktop Publishing, Job Search Strategies, Food Preparation, Mobility Training and Personal/Social Adjustment. Each semester offers new classes including those which may lead to a modified certificate.

The focus of the Intellectual Disabilities Program at Coastline includes increasing independence in living, work, and college for all students. The program is available to individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities who are independent in personal and self care needs, who can provide their own transportation, and who follow the college code of conduct. Exceptions to this criteria are considered on an individual basis.

The program is offered in a small class size with specialized instruction at zero cost to the student and family. The campus offers a social community with year round activities such as music performances, art exhibits, and open houses.

The School of Continuing Education offers a variety of classes and services at no cost for students with disabilities. DSS Classes, geared for students with intellectual disabilities and autism, are offered on all three campuses and in the community. Classes are grouped into Tracks focusing on: Interpersonal Skills, Academic Skills, Life Skills, Computer Skills and Employment Skills. These classes are available at Cypress, Wilshire and Anaheim Campuses.

WISE: Work Independence, Self-Advocacy, Education

Contact: Mary Faro at MFaro@sce.edu

The NOCCCD WISE program provides training in practical living skills, functional communication, community integration, mobility training and vocational preparation at Cypress and Wilshire Centers. The WISE program is funded by the NOCCCD and the Regional Center of Orange County. The program is available to individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities who are independent in providing all personal and/or self-care needs, who follow the college code of conduct, and who are free from uncontrolled medical conditions and/or major maladaptive behaviors.

Mobility Training Program

Contact: mobility@sce.edu

The Mobility Training Program is done in collaboration with Orange County Transportation Authority (OCTA). Students are taught to ride to and from school or work. Instruction is provided one to one and in small groups.

College to Career

Contact: April Guajardo at Aguajardo@sce.edu

Students with an intellectual disability who want to learn inclusively may apply for College to Career. Twenty new students are accepted each year. Student must have an educational and vocational goal and be able to attend classes independently.

Workability III

Contact: Alex Benavidez at ABenavidez@sce.edu

Workability III is available to students with all disabilities who are ready to seek and obtain employment. This program does not provide job coaching so students must be able to work independently.
